 REPLY TO PLAINTIFF'S

 DEFAULT

23 [FRCP 55(c).]

24 Date: May 12, 2008

Time: 11:00 a.m.

Courtroom: 4

Judge: Hon. William Q. Hayes

25 DATE OF FILING: December 19, 2007

1 I.2 INTRODUCTION

3 Plaintiff Chad McKinney (“McKinney”) opposes named-defendant April
 4 Alcorn’s (“Alcorn”) Motion to Set Aside Clerk’s Entry of Default, but provides no
 5 factual or legal support for doing so. Instead, McKinney provides a lengthy and 6 unorganized rant from a disgruntled ex-employee who was terminated for not
 7 showing up to work.

8 McKinney does not deny, and therefore admits, that Alcorn was never 9 personally served or that any attempts were made to personally serve her.
 10 McKinney does not dispute that Alcorn does not know or even work with Rebecca
 11 Springfield, a security guard that McKinney attempted to substitute serve on 12 Alcorn’s behalf. McKinney does not deny that the any of the summonses
 13 purportedly served upon the above-named defendants were not directed to any
 14 particular entity or individual as is required under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure
 15 (“FRCP”) Rule 4(a). McKinney admits that Alcorn is not domiciled in California.
 16 McKinney does not deny that Alcorn’s interactions with him were undertaken
 17 solely in a corporate capacity. And finally, McKinney does not dispute that
 18 punitive damages may not be awarded via a default judgment. As a result, Alcorn’s
 19 motion should be granted and the clerk’s entry of default should be set aside.

20
21 II.22 MCKINNEY ADMITS THAT COURT LACKS
23 JURISDICTION OVER ALCORN.

24 McKinney does not dispute that he did not serve Alcorn within the state.
 25 McKinney also does not dispute that Alcorn did not consent to the Court’s
 26 jurisdiction and is not domiciled within California. Indeed, McKinney’s only
 27 argument that Alcorn is subject to the Court’s jurisdiction centers on whether her
 28 actions satisfy the minimum contacts analysis. To that end, McKinney does not

1 dispute that Alcorn is a non-resident and that his only interactions with her were
 2 undertaken in her official corporate capacity as Apollo Group, Inc.'s Human
 3 Resources Representative. As such, the facts here fall squarely under the holding of 4 Club Car, Inc. v. Club Car (Quebec) Import, Inc. (11th Cir. 2004) 362 F3d 775,
 5 784, which specifically states that non-resident individual is not subject to personal
 6 jurisdiction based upon the acts in the forum state undertaken in a corporate
 7 capacity. Accordingly, Alcorn is not subject to the Court's jurisdiction simply 8 because she answered a phone call or exchanged correspondence with McKinney as 9 part of her corporate duties and the clerk's entry of default should be set aside.

III.MCKINNEY ADMITS THAT HE DID NOT PROPERLY SERVE ALCORN.

12 McKinney does not dispute that he did not personally serve Alcorn.
 13 McKinney does not deny that he attempted to substitute serve Alcorn pursuant to 14 California law.¹ As such, under California law, substitute service may only be 15 utilized after a "good faith effort at personal service has been attempted." Cal.
 16 Code Civ. Proc. § 415.20. Further, after attempted substitute service, a copy of the 17 summons and complaint must be mailed to the defendant via pre-paid first class
 18 mail. Id. McKinney made no such good faith effort, and has not provided any 19 evidence that he attempted to do so. Additionally, McKinney admits that he did not 20 mail a copy of the summons and complaint to Alcorn as is required under 21 California Code of Civil Procedure Section 415.20(a).

23 If the defendant challenges the method of service, the burden is on plaintiff to 24 show that reasonable attempts were made to serve defendant personally before
 25 resorting to substitute service and why personal service could not be effected.

26 Evarett v. Superior Court, 89 Cal. App. 3d 795, 801 (1979). Two or three attempts

27

¹ Indeed, McKinney attempted service at Alcorn's place of work which is not authorized under federal law.

1 to personally serve defendant at a “proper place” ordinarily qualifies as “reasonable
 2 diligence” at attempting personal service. Espindola v. Nunez, 199 Cal. App. 3d
 3 1389, 1392 (1988); Stafford v. Mach, 64 Cal. App. 4th 1174, 1182 (1998).
 4 Moreover, no copy of the summons and compliant was ever mailed to Alcorn.
 5 Therefore, Alcorn was not properly served under either federal or California law
 6 and is not subject to the Court’s jurisdiction. Accordingly, the clerk’s entry of 7 default should be set aside.

IV.10 MCKINNEY DOES NOT DISPUTE THAT PUNITIVE DAMAGES MAY 11 NOT BE AWARDED VIA DEFAULT JUDGMENT.

12 As stated in Alcorn’s moving papers, and is undisputed by McKinney,
 13 punitive damages can never be awarded without a hearing because they are not
 14 liquidated or readily computable and are considered “in excess of what is required
 15 on default.” Comdyne I, Inc. v. Corbin (3rd Cir. 1990) 908 F2d 1142; Merrill
 16 Lynch Mortgage Corp. v. Narayan (7th Cir. 1990) 908 F2d 246, 253. Accordingly,
 17 McKinney’s request for punitive damages under an entry of default must be denied.
